BRITISH SEE CRISIS AHEAD IN MANPOWER

Propose Conscription Age

And 50 Years

UNMARRIED WOMEN WOULD BE CALLED

Churchill Warns Again Of Air Raids And Danger
Of Invasion

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 2.—Prime Minister Churchill told parliament today that "a crisis of manpower and womanpower" will dominate the year 1942 for Britain, proposed that military conscription age limits be lowered to 18½ and raised to 50 and warned that eventually men of 60 might be called.

Powers to compel unmarried women between the ages of 20 and 30 to join the uniformed forces also will be sought, he said, although only volunteer women will be assigned to "lethal or combatant services."

The present conscription limit for men is 19 to 41.

Equipment Crisis Ended

Declaring to a solemn and crowded house of commons that Britain's crisis of equipment is largely over and an ever-broadening flow is now assured, partly because of United States aid and partly because of newly completed British empire factories, he said the drain on British manpower was arising from five causes:

1. The necessity of staffing the new factories.
2. The maintenance and expansion of forces in the east.
3. The supplying of Russia from British production.
4. The prospective expansion of the air force, and the continuous growth of the navy, and
5. The continuous guard against "two cultures"—the danger of invasion and the air raid—which will hang over us until the end of the war.

The expanded military conscription will bring more than 3,000,000 more men and women under review for armed service with the British forces.

"Very definite curtailments of the amenities we have hitherto been able to preserve will be demanded," he said.

At the same time it was reported that Britain's "crisis of equipment" is largely over and an ever-broadening flow is now assured.

Calls for Sacrifice

He said Britain would have to call on her people for "a further degree of sacrifice and exertion. Although 1941 has seen the major problems of creating war production capacity and manufacturing equipment largely solved or on the way to solution."

The crisis of manpower and womanpower of 1942 was expected, he declared, because "great supply plants have been largely constructed."

"They are finished. They must be fully staffed."

"We must prepare for the expansion of our air force in 1942 and

NAZI ROSTOV RETREAT ROUT

Germans, However, Claim
Successes On North
African Front

(By Associated Press)

Soviet dispatches declared today that the retreat of Adolf Hitler's Ukraine armies from Rostov-on-Don had become a rout, with the Nazis fleeing westward along the shores of the Azov sea after a defeat which "puts an end to tales about the invincibility of the German army."

Advices reaching London said the German southern forces, commanded by Gen. Erwin Von Kliest, were heading back to Mariupol, 100 miles west of Rostov, to make a new stand around that city, which they captured on Oct. 7.

The German high command said bitter fighting was continuing but gave no details.

Dispute Moscow Claims

On the central front, a bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German troops pressing the two-month-old offensive against Moscow had penetrated deep into the capital's defense system—how far was not stated—while a Soviet spokesman countered with a statement that "the Germans can register so far only tremendous losses in all directions, without exception."

Authoritative London quarters likewise reflected optimism over the battle for Moscow, declaring that the Germans had not made any progress during the past 24 hours.

Dispatches to the Soviet newspaper Pravda said Red army troops had refused attacks by three German divisions, about 45,000 soldiers, in the Klin and Volokolamsk sectors, respectively 50 and 65 miles northwest of Moscow.

Rome reports said heavy fighting had broken out in the Italian sector in the Donets river basin, near Voroshilovgrad, 100 miles north of Moscow.

ONE DRIVER INJURED IN TWO ACCIDENTS

Ralph Robert Green, 36, of R. D. 4, Youngstown, escaped uninjured 4:25 p. m. Monday when he lost control of his car at the junction of Route 62 and the Western Reserve road and it crashed into a nearby service station operated by Harry Baird.

The machine knocked over a "gas" pump and then struck a parked car owned by William Stratton, 19, of R. D. 1, Canfield, state highway patrolmen said.

A collision of automobiles driven by William P. Morris, 36, of R. D. 4, Lisbon, at 6:15 a. m. today on Route 164, two miles south of Lisbon, brought injuries to Morris.

Morris, whose car skidded into an embankment, suffered lacerations of the face and a bruised right leg.

COUNCIL MAY ACT ON NEW QUARTERS

City council may take action at its regular meeting tonight on acquisition of new quarters for the police and fire departments, which have been ordered removed from the condemned city hall.

The councilmen, at committee meetings, have been strongly considering the purchase of the Harris garage building across the street from the pumping station as a probable site for the fire department.

The police department may locate at the rear of the Perry township trustees' office.

BURMA'S DEFENSE POSTS BOLSTERED

(By Associated Press)
Britain's new 35,000-ton battleship Prince of Wales steamed into the great Singapore naval base today at the head of a flotilla of powerful naval reinforcements as Japanese dispatches asserted that British imperial troops were massing along the Thailand frontier for an invasion.

The Prince of Wales and other unspecified "heavy units" are the first capital ships Britain has ever sent to the Far East ready for action. Others have made only ceremonial visits.

Bolster Defense Centers
Simultaneously, a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Rangoon said one of the largest columns of military vehicles ever seen in Burma left the capital for duty with British troops at defense centers throughout the country.

British fears of a Japanese thrust into Burma or Thailand have been repeatedly emphasized in recent weeks, but Dornel, the Japanese news agency, declared bluntly:

"Indications are that Britain herself is now seeking to invade Thailand."

Thailand herself rushed large-scale preparations for defense in event of an attack, posting armed guards in Bangkok and the capital's suburbs and constructing concrete air-raid shelters at many street junctions.

The official Bangkok radio sought to calm fears that the little country might become a battleground for British and Japanese armies, declaring that the government had investigated foreign reports of an impending attack and found "no country has any designs on Thailand."

Tension Increases
Nevertheless, tension was electric in the Orient.

In Singapore, thousands of British, Malay, Chinese and Eurasian volunteers went into camp on a full-time soldiering basis as the British crown colony prepared for any eventuality. Only skeleton staffs were left to man business establishments and government offices throughout Malaya.

Long lines of army trucks passed through Singapore all yesterday and last night's carrying newly-arrived Indian troops to outposts along the colony's eastern frontier, facing Thailand.

On Thailand's other side, great numbers of Japanese troops reported massed in French Indo-China.

Both sides appeared to be waiting for the other to strike, first.

Late War Front Bulletins

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Informed sources today predicted that British declarations of war against Finland, Rumania and Hungary would come toward the end of the week.

They said Finland had been given her last chance to cease attacking Russia.

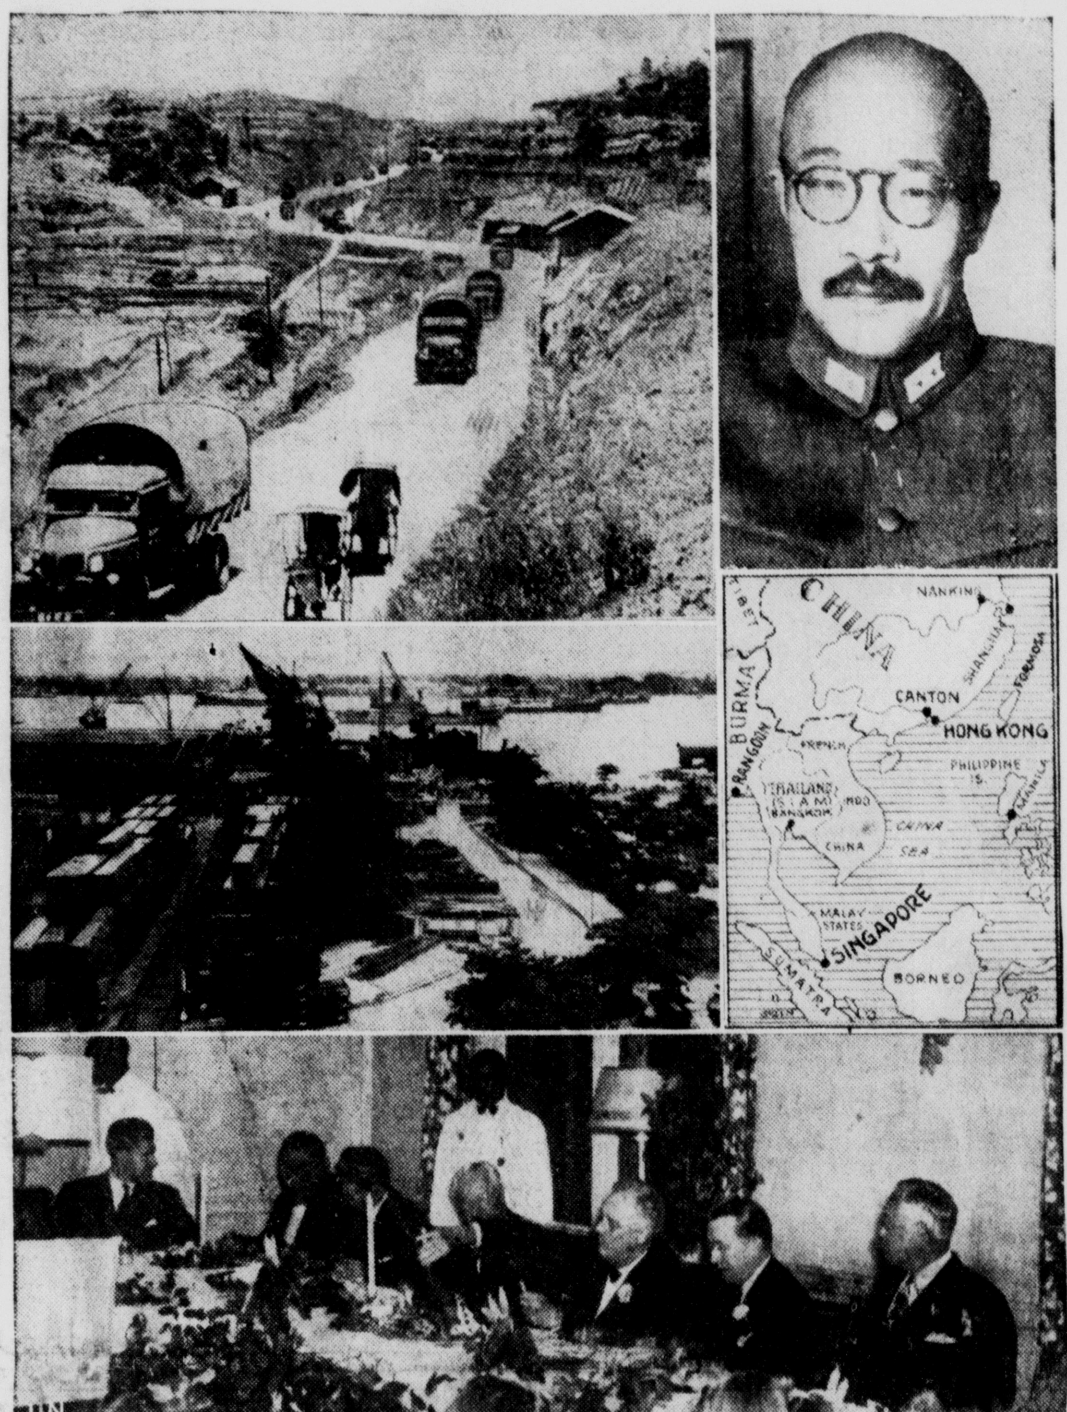

These sources indicated that British reluctance to declare war on Finland had been overcome to a considerable degree when Finland adhered to the anti-comintern pact, especially in view of Prime Minister Churchill's warning several months ago that whoever marched with Hitler was Britain's foe.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 2.—The British admiralty was reported by informed sources tonight to have ordered all British China coast shipping to proceed immediately to the British port of Hongkong.

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 2.—An Australian escort sloop, the Parramatta, was reported today to have been torpedoed and sunk.

An announcement said 141 officers and men were missing.

Critical Japanese-U. S. relations, boiling to the breaking point, take the news spotlight. As President Roosevelt cut short his Thanksgiving Day visit at Warm Springs, Ga., hurrying back to Washington because of the seriousness of the Pacific situation, military moves were many in the danger spots in the Far East. The Japanese cabinet met in extraordinary session at the Tokyo home of Premier Tojo, who stated that Japan must do everything possible to wipe out British and American exploitation in the Far East. A large contingent of British and Indian troops landed at Rangoon, British Burma. Thailand troops took up positions along the frontiers as new Japanese forces poured into neighboring Indo-China. A disclosure from Manila was to the effect that an all-American air unit composed of American planes flown by American pilots under the Chinese flag will help defend the vital Burma road from Japanese air attacks.

RAILROAD STRIKE THREAT IS LIFTED

Wage and Vacation Dispute Settled; Payrolls To Be Boosted

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The threat of a strike was lifted today from the nation's railroads, simplifying the problems of traffic chiefs who must accommodate the heaviest holiday business in two decades on lines already jammed with dense freight.

Settlement of the dispute over wages and vacations was announced last night by Wayne L. Morse, chairman of an emergency board appointed by President Roosevelt.

Payrolls Boosted
Morse withheld exact terms of the peace agreement until it could be submitted to Mr. Roosevelt today, but other sources declared the pact would add from $300,000,000 to $325,000,000 a year to the carriers' payrolls.

The walkout had been set for next Sunday.

The settlement capped two days and nights of almost continuous negotiations between the railroad brotherhoods and the carriers, with the president's board acting as a mediation agency.

The same board, acting in a fact-finding capacity, earlier had recommended a 10 percent wage increase.

Allied Crew Members
Still Missing

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A naval action in which the 6,830-ton Australian cruiser Sydney sank the heavily-armed German merchant raider Steiermark, a vessel of 9,400 tons, but was lost herself, was announced today by the Australian government.

Prime Minister John Curtin, at Canberra, said the full complement of the Sydney's 42 officers and 653 men was missing.

"Information has been received from the naval board that H. M. S. Sydney has been in action with a heavily-armed merchant raider which she sank by gunfire," a communication issued by the ministry of information said.

Enemy Supplies Information
"The information was obtained from survivors from the enemy ship who were picked up some time after the action."

"No subsequent communication has been received from H. M. S. Sydney and it must be presumed she has been lost. Extensive search by air and surface units to locate survivors continues."

The date of the action was not given but the announcement said that news of kin of the missing were informed Nov. 26.

The British admiralty, which identified the destroyed German raider as the Steiermark, said she "has been known for some time as raider No. 41 and had been sailing under the name of Kormoran."

NOMURA, KURUSU CALLED IN AGAIN

Both Stress That Japan Is Anxious To Continue
Conversations

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Roosevelt was disclosed today to be asking Japan questions which diplomatic observers said included requests for an explanation of Japanese military moves into Indo-China and toward Thailand.

The disclosure was in a state department official's account of another visit there by Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura and Special Envoy Saburo Kurosu.

Tokyo Aids Asked To Call

He said Undersecretary Sumner Welles had been directed by the President to ask the Japanese representative to call on him in order to make certain inquiries of the Japanese government, through them, for the information of the President.

This was taken by observers to mean that the President was intervening personally in the negotiations in order to get some satisfactory explanation of recent Japanese military steps.

Officials, however, declined to confirm or deny such interpretations.

Nomura indicated to reporters before going to see Welles that he and Kurosu were not bringing their governments' reply to Secretary of State Hull's document restating the basis of United States policy in the Far East.

"Weighty Consideration"

Nomura said this was being given "weighty consideration."

President Roosevelt called Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Knox, along with Welles, to a White House conference which an aide said was on the general situation.

Welles went in place of Hull who was understood at the White House to have a slight cold.

Both the Japanese stressed that Japan was anxious to continue the conversations and hold open the door for a settlement.

Kurosu, asked if he still thought he had a "fighting chance" of success, replied:

"Yes, I don't give up so easily."

Nomura said "nobody wants war—war would not settle anything anyway."

PATROL ARRESTS TRUCK OPERATORS

State highway patrolmen yesterday arrested six drivers, five of them truck operators charged with operating overloaded vehicles.

Fined $25 and costs each by Justice A. R. Horton at Rootstown, were Leroy Carl, 32, of Bousburg, Pa., overweight 1,200 pounds; James T. Jones, 29, of Warren, overweight 1,600 pounds, and Ted E. McCoy of Youngstown, overweight 1,400 pounds.

Donald M. Johnston, 25, of R. D. 2, Salem, overweight by 1,240 pounds was fined $15 and costs by Justice Walter Smith at Diamond, Ohio.

J. Munro, 47, of Pittsburgh, overweight by 1,380 pounds, was fined $25 and costs in Smith's court.

The truck drivers were "weighed in" at the Edinburg scales by Patrolmen C. W. Cale and Herbert Krogh.

Ralph R. Green, 36, of R. D. 4, Youngstown, charged by the patrol with failing to observe a stop sign at the intersection of Route 62 and the Western Reserve road, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor George Wilson in Canfield.

NEW DRAFT BOARD CHECK-UP PLANNED

Selective Service inspection territories were shifted by State Director C. W. Goble today to assure a rigid second inspection of local draft board operations.

First inspections were made by the regular inspector assigned to the various districts, but Goble said that preliminary and regular second inspections beginning this month would be made by different men. Inspections will continue into February.

Each inspector will retain his same territory, the shuffling of assignments being only for the second inspection period.

New assignments for H. E. Zepernick of Salem, who covers Columbiana county draft board operations, will include Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake and Ashtabula counties.

COMMON GROUND FOR AGREEMENT

It's a rare occurrence when CIO, AFL and National Association of Manufacturers can see eye to eye on the same point. That is what they are doing on the government's attempt to crack down on them with compulsory arbitration at the penalty of losing their rights and property if they fail to comply with government's demands.

Instinct, if nothing else, warns them that they have everything to lose and nothing to gain by making it possible for government to exploit their difficulties for the purpose of increasing its powers of regulation. They are drawn together, however unwillingly, by realization of what they stand to lose if government can charge successfully that they lack ability to settle their differences without recourse to the doubtful intervention of bureaucratic control.

In this realization there is created a common ground for agreement between management and labor. Either they will surmount the difficulties that proved insurmountable for their counterparts in nations that turned to dictatorship and statism to eliminate bickering, or they will suffer the same fate. That has been the warning implicit in every effort to resist the growth of authoritarianism in the United States for the last 10 years.

Private enterprise, independent labor organizations and freedom impose an obligation to find the terms of harmonious agreement under the supervision of government. If they fail, supervision becomes intercession and the very things that were most worth saving are surrendered to political control.

THE HIGH COST OF WAR

Testimony being taken by a senate subcommittee on two bills to broaden the pension program of World war is a disturbing echo in a country spending money at a staggering rate to prepare itself for World war II. Here is one cost of war that is never put into the total until some years after the war is over.

Representatives of the American Legion who pointed out that one year's cost of the legislation—$50,000,000—would be only four-tenths of 1 percent of the amount of the two lend-lease acts did not venture any guess on the all-time cost. But one witness, Commander Luchars of American Veterans association did venture a guess—$300,000,000 in the next 100 years. And Brig. Gen. Hines, head of veterans' administration, advised restriction on the terms of the proposed bills; congress, he explained, is dealing with a ticklish public opinion because of defense spending.

The probable cost of America's part in the present war—which at best is only wild guesswork—will not be complete till a new generation of soldiers has run through the routine from disability allowances to pensions for a few at first, then ultimately everybody. The World war generation is just beginning to become expensive; it drew pensions of more than a quarter of a billion in the fiscal year 1940 and that is only the beginning.

HE'S STILL WAITING

The head of the small business section of the anti-trust division of the department of justice has proposed an independent government agency to help small businessmen. This is latest in a series of proposals that are beginning to resemble discussions of the weather. Everybody talks about helping small businessmen, but no one seems to do anything about them.

Meanwhile, the small businessman is still waiting to be assigned a more important place in defense production than has been officially marked out for him so far. He knows there are many jobs he could be doing to his plant if the government's needs and his own resources could be coordinated; he already is doing some of the jobs acceptably, but could do more.

An article from England in a recent issue of The New Yorker described the function of small plants in the British war effort. An official was quoted as saying that Great Britain, lacking time to build new specialized plants, had to convert plants already in existence to war use. While many of them were less efficient than the new plants would have been, they proved they could handle the responsibility.

Perhaps one difficulty with the United States in its handling of the small business problem is its characteristic weakness for tearing down and starting from scratch with the newest and best, instead of practicing the New England adage of doing the job with what's available.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, December 3

SPLENDID opportunity may come knocking at the door insistently and soundly judging by the very auspicious tone of the planetary aspects. There should be little chance for ignoring or sidestepping this happy summons, since some very influential, powerful and friendly personages stand ready to offer the opening as well as the funds and other desirable means for promotion. However there may also be a measure of opposition, so guard well the advantages as well as the possessions and enviable resources. The public interest seems involved and also romance and social prestige are enhanced and enjoyed. Sign all writings with caution.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of much happiness, advancement and secure prestige. Friendly aid seems ready to promote high ambitions, although be alert to certain antagonisms, guarding well the advantages as well as public honors and personal happiness. Be extremely cautious with agreements, papers and all writings.

A child born on this day should have outstanding ambitions with the ability, credit, prestige and personal popularity to attain them. Its life should have much gratification, honors and personal romance or social preferences.

THE IMPORTANCE OF TURKEY

One of the most important war-developments of recent months has suffered a black-out because of the more sensational American-Japanese crisis, the Nazi rout at Rostov and the great Allied drive against the Axis in the Libyan desert.

I refer to the fact that the Soviet has delivered under naval convoy at Istanbul, Turkey, three barges laden with the oil which is more precious than rubies these days—the first shipment of its kind since the Russo-German conflict began. Further, it's said that the Muscovites, in order to offset Nazi economic pressure on the Turks, have offered them all the oil they need henceforth, and they need plenty.

Now that move might easily develop into a major victory for the Allies. Its significance is that apart from the Caucasus, from which the Germans have just been flung back, Turkey is the only feasible land-gateway from the continent to the Middle and Near East, once the Bosphorus or Dardanelles has been jumped.

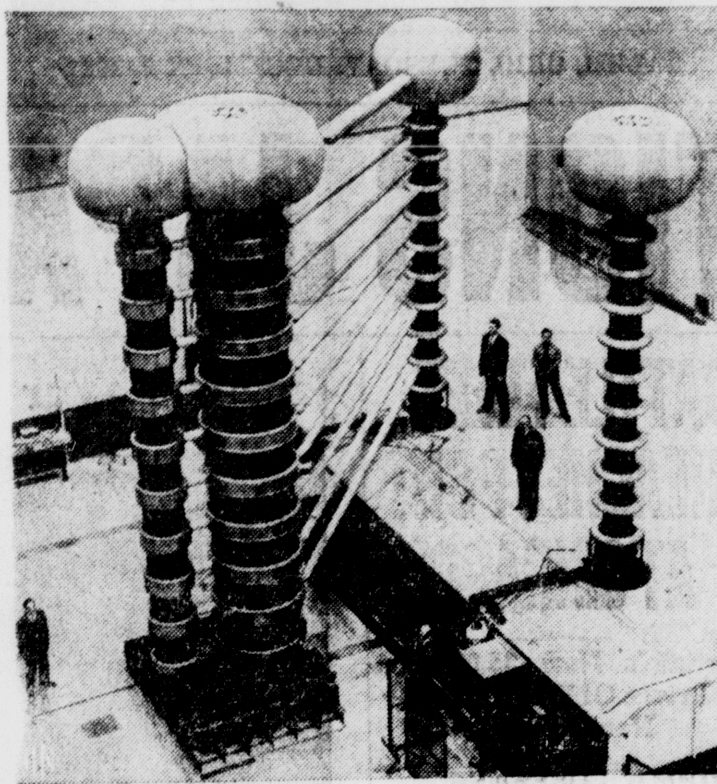

In other words, Turkey is one of the most valuable stretches of terrain on earth right now in the eyes of either the Axis or the Allies.

That's why both sides have been doing their utmost to swing the Turks away from neutrality and into their respective camps. Thus far the British seem to have the inside track, but the cautious Ottomans have given signs of trying to remain neutral so long as possible, or at least until it seems wise to make a shift.

The side which wins the outright support of Turkey will have got a rich prize. If that support could be secured before the crucial fighting of next spring, it would be worth a kingdom either to Hitler or his enemies, and I dare say Ankara might even get that price if it chose to bargain.

History does not record that there was ever a statesman who could fix a tax bill that every one would like.

COMPARES CITY AND FARM DWELLERS

Clendening Considers Hygiene In Each Case

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Browning wrote a poem called "Up in a Villa—Down in the City" describing the pleasures of farm life as contrasted with the pleasures of city life. I, less poetic

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

more practical than Browning, would like to approach the subject from the standpoint of hygiene and consider the comparative healthfulness of life down on the farm and up in the city.

There are lots of people who like to live down on the farm and I personally am glad there are because I would be extremely unhappy on a real sure-enough operating farm.

One of the arguments that is advanced in favor of farm life is that it is more healthful and to a certain extent the recent figures compiled by Dr. James J. Short of the New York Postgraduate Medical School indicate that this might be true.

Recent Figures

Tobacco: Fifty-seven per cent of rural people and 68 per cent of city dwellers use tobacco.

Alcohol: Forty-two per cent of rural and 60 per cent of city dwellers use alcohol.

In the case of both tobacco and alcohol, life in the city leads to greater temptation.

Effects of high pressure living: About 3 per cent of rural and 7 per cent of city dwellers have a pulse rate of 90 or more. This might be interpreted to mean the pressure of life in the city. Tremors are more than twice as frequent in the city.

But 3½ per cent of rural and only 2½ per cent of urban dwellers have enlarged hearts.

Heart murmur occurred in 3½ per cent of rural people and 4½ per cent of city dwellers.

Lung disease occurred in 2½ per cent in the country and 3 per cent in the city. This, of course, is mostly tuberculosis. There is a surprisingly small difference.

Eight per cent rural and 9 per cent urban need glasses.

Nearly 6 per cent rural and 3 per cent urban dwellers have infected tonsils. This is probably due to better access to medical care in the city.

More germs seem to get into the bodies of city dwellers as noted by the rather undue rate of enlargement of lymphatic nodes. Thyroid enlargements were practically identical. High blood pressure is practically the same in both.

There is the same amount of hernia and hemorrhoids in both groups.

Two conclusions might be drawn from the figures. First: That the

Attacks Wall Street

John T. McGovern

In one of the bitterest speeches of the war, John T. McGovern, fiery Scotch laborer, violently attacked Churchill as well as the U. S. in a speech before Commons. He declared Wall Street seeks to blast its way into the markets of Europe over British bodies, and that the prime minister is a self-confessed advocate of aggression and a defender of fascism.

NOT FOR DIM-WITS

This newspaper is not printed for a bunch of sheep to read. Like all American newspapers, it is published for people like yourself who are smart enough to vote, to govern themselves, to manage their own personal affairs.

In this newspaper you will find a great many FACTS. You will like some facts, dislike others.

Also you will find many conflicting OPINIONS printed here. Hitler's opinions—and Roosevelt's. Pro-war and anti-war opinions. The opinions of murderers and of mothers. And the opinion of the paper's own editors. If you weren't free to accept or reject OPINIONS you wouldn't be free at all.

The story of a fire is fact and opinion as a reporter saw it. Sermons are facts and opinions in favor of religion; advertisements are facts and opinions in favor of some product or service. Pictures of Yellowstone are facts and opinions in favor of vacations and travel.

Your job, as an intelligent citizen, is to recognize the facts, weigh the opinions, take the good and pass the bad by.

Here is a simple illustration of FACT and OPINION. It may help you to tell them apart, in your newspaper, which must, of course, give you BOTH.

THIS IS A CAT. Cats are a FACT. The paper didn't just imagine them—they EXIST.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

"The cat ate the canary," said the detective when he saw the feathers on the cat's nose, and the bird was missing."

"Down with cats," said the Cat Haters Society when it heard the news."

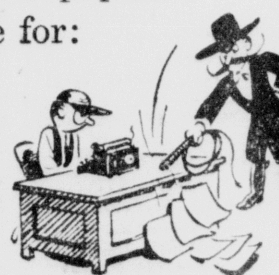

Such reports would be OPINIONS if they appeared in the paper. Don't be too quick to accept every opinion that comes along. There are nearly always opinions ON THE OTHER SIDE, usually appearing in the same paper.

What newspapers are for:

American newspapers lay facts before you. Then their editors and many other people give you OPINIONS of ALL kinds. The rest is up to you.

We WOULD be a nation of dim-wits if America had to have some overseer to decide WHAT facts and WHAT opinions its newspapers might print. Every citizen in America is given the right—and the duty, too—to make up his own mind, from all the FACTS and the OPINIONS that are within his easy reach.

In Germany, Italy, Russia, Japan, a government agency decides what the people shall read and hear. Not so in America. Do your part to preserve the American way of life.

SENATE STENOGRAPHER by MAXWELL THAYER

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Gale wondered what Senator Murray was doing, why he was so late. She went to his door, knocked and opened it.

Murray was well on the way to his cups, drinking from a tumbler as Gale opened the door. She looked at the uncorked bottle on the desk and the glass in the Senator's hand. He drained his glass, refilled it, and took a big drink. Gale corked the bottle, and put it away. Disgust showed on her face as he seemed to be talking to himself.

"I'll be the goat if anything—nothing goes wrong. Colburn would make me a goat. Don't know I took the bill anyway. Colburn dangled bait and I, poor fish, jumped at it," Gale said.

"Don't stop it, please," Gale said, "I'm going to happen. The bill is a headache. Liquid nerve help you if you're scared—"

"You're too, if you were.... I am," he said, but emptied his glass for the third time.

"You're not in deep; the Attorney General admitted that. He's not going to go on but suspicion," he explained.

"Yeah, thash right, just shushup, but somebody'll talk, somebody'll talk."

"I'd hate to think what might happen to anybody who talked," he said, and looked sharply at a trembling Elaine.

"She went out and, shutting the door behind her, stood for a minute by her desk, thinking.... There was only one person who could help Murray pull himself together and that was—Colburn."

"She phoned that 'something important has come up. Shall I come over there?'"

"I don't think it's a good idea to come coming here often," he said. "Where will you be in an hour?"

"At Nan's. I'm going out for a bit before dinner."

"Och, I'll meet you there. Good-bye."

Gale hung up. Elaine came running in. "Already?" Gale nodded and picked up her shorthand book.

"What's the idea of bringing the book? Going to do some homework?" Elaine asked.

"Yeah," Gale replied. "There's some confidential stuff in here and I don't want to leave it laying around."

Gale called a taxi and they left, Elaine protesting that she couldn't find a cab, and Gale explaining that was her treat.

"I've a little extra money from the estate," Gale said and smiled.

inwardly at her own description of fifty thousand dollars. If Elaine only knew, wouldn't her eyes pop!

Nan was alone in her drawing room when the two girls entered. She was happy to see them, she said.

The two girls were just starting upstairs to undress for their swim when Cedric Colburn entered the house and called to Gale.

"Got a minute?" he asked, and looking at Elaine, "There's something private I want to talk over with you."

"Sure," Gale replied. She told Elaine she'd join her soon, and followed Colburn back to the drawing room.

"Hello Cedric," Nan said. "Glad you came."

"Thanks, Nan; mind if Gale and I use your den. We've some private business to talk over," Colburn said, guiding Gale toward the door of the den.

"Go right ahead," Nan resumed her seat and picked up a magazine. When the door was closed and they had both taken seats, Colburn asked: "What's all this about something important?"

Gale told him about the visit of the Attorney General and the other officer.

"Can you read shorthand?" Gale asked, and when he said he couldn't, she told him the gist of the conversation in Murray's office and handed him the shorthand book. "It's all down there, if you ever want to use it."

Murray's recourse to liquor to quiet his fears she also described in some detail. To it all, Colburn listened in silence and when she had finished, he thanked her, said he'd think the whole thing over.

He was still seated in the den, chewing on a cigar, when she went upstairs to rejoin Elaine.

"Colburn just wanted to talk over some investments for me," she said, and began to disrobe. Elaine was already in her suit, reclining on the bed.

"Does Colburn handle your money?" Elaine asked.

"No, I handle it myself, but he advises me on some things."

"They say he's a very wealthy man, so I guess he should know a good investment from a bad one," Elaine said thoughtfully.

Gale had chosen a blue bathing suit printed with leaves. "I wonder," she said, "if this suit will bring good luck. Well, I'll soon find out. Ready?"

They went out through the French doors and down the back stairs to the pool. It was blue and so smooth it seemed almost sinful to disturb its serenity.

Gale dived in. "It's just right," she said. "Come on in."

Elaine hesitated and then dived. She came up, splashing water. "Whee, it's cold!"

"I'll race you to the end," Gale shouted and sped away.

When they paused for a breath at the end of the pool, both saw the butler coming toward them.

"Miss Holway," he said, "there's a gentleman on the phone."

"Who is it?"

"He didn't say, but insisted I call you."

"But I can't go into the house all dripping wet."

"I'll get you a large towel, Miss."

So Gale hauled herself out of the water and followed the butler through the door into the den on the first floor of the house. She picked up the receiver and said "Hello."

She recognized the slightly blurred voice immediately as that of Tommy Olmstead. She knew he had been drinking.

"Gale, hope you don't mind too much being called from the pool. I have to go up to Folsom and thought you might like to go for the ride. We could stop off and eat—"

"I thought," Gale interrupted him, "you understood that we were only business associates now. Colburn told you—"

"Colburn can't tell me!" he interrupted. "I'll lead my life the way I like it. It's my life. If you want to go with me, you just say so and I'll come right out there for you."

"What made you think I might want to?"

"Most girls sorta like me."

"Well, I'm different and Tommy—the door of the den opened and Colburn stood there, but Gale continued anyway — "if you take my advice you'll go home and go to bed. Don't try to drive your car...."

Colburn took the phone from her hand. "Olmstead?" Gale nodded.

"Listen, you!" Colburn shouted so loudly it must have shocked Tommy's eardrums. "Didn't I tell you to leave Gale alone? Didn't I tell you I'd tell your wife. Well, I'm wiring her right now to come up here and take care of you."

He slammed the piece back on its cradle. Then he glanced at the swim-suited Gale who picked up the towel and wrapped it about her. She wondered if she was going to have trouble with Colburn, too.

Gale turned quickly and left the den, returning to the pool. But her zest for the swim was gone. She slumped into a chair beside a table and sighed. Elaine climbed out of the water, threw a robe about her and chose a chair next to Gale.

"What's the matter? Anything happen?"

"Nothing's the matter," Gale said. "Just a fresh guy wanting a date."

"How'd he know you were out here?"

"How does anyone know anything in the capitol," Gale said. "I'd hate to have a secret I really wanted to keep. I never saw such a town!"

They both sat in silence for a minute, watching the water of the pool reflecting the sky. Gale got up slowly. "Guess I'll dress," she said.

"Coming?"

"Yeah." After they'd walked a few steps, Elaine asked quietly: "Gale, are you keeping a secret?"

It was Elaine's serious tone that amused Gale who replied lightly: "I'll say I'm keeping a secret, and one I'm going to do something about—and soon!" She ran up the stairs, while a bewildered Elaine followed.

Elaine glanced at the clock and began to shed her suit, suddenly remembering that she had a date. As she changed, she continued to chatter: "I promised Elmer Martin a week ago I'd go out with him tonight. You know he's a clerk in the Senate. Kinda good looking, too. He knows everybody."

Nan knocked on the door and came in. Gale was just heading for the shower. Elaine was putting the finishing touches to her make-up. She told Nan about almost forgetting the date, and Nan said she'd send her home in the car. Elaine and Nan left together.

By the time Gale had finished her shower, Nan was back, sitting on the edge of the bed, waiting for her.

"Cedric wants to have a talk with us, as soon as you're ready," Nan said. "Don't hurry, though; it'll do him good to wait."

"What's bothering him?" Gale asked.

"I don't know, just said he wanted to talk to us. He's probably got some work he wants done."

"You too?" Gale asked, although she had suspected for a long time that Nan was on Colburn's payroll.

"Me, too," Nan said. "Jo, these many years!"

Program On Modern American Art Presented By Book Club

A delightful program on modern American art, featuring a talk by Miss Adelaide Dyball, marked the meeting of Book club Monday afternoon in the library assembly room.

Roll call response was "Current Art Notes," followed by an interesting paper by Mrs. Carl Willman on "Old Masters in a New National Gallery," a survey of the paintings and sculptures at present in the first American national art gallery in Washington, dedicated in 1941, the gift of the late Andrew Mellon, by Mrs. Carl Willman.

Talk Illustrated

Miss Dyball, illustrating her talk with colored slides, discussed the development of modern American art, which, she said, was only 300 years old and only 50 years younger than England's. Only in the last ten years has American art been judged on its own merit, the speaker explained, since previously it was compared with and influenced and judged by European art. Slide reproductions of examples of the American artists were shown, as well as those of several European artists whose work influenced American painters. With each picture the speaker explained the background of the artist, the points of each picture, the change in periods of art as illustrated by each work.

The program included two readings, "Encouragement" and "The Census Taker" by Mrs. J. P. Hayden; and two vocal numbers, "In a Monastery Garden" (Keteby) and "Passing By" (Purcell). Miss Donna Rose Haessly, accompanied by Miss Mary Byers.

Reports Are Given

During the business meeting at which Mrs. C. L. Hartough, president, had charge, reports were given by Mrs. B. L. Flick, treasurer; Mrs. Irene Matthews, book critic; Mrs. Ross Clay, movie critic; Mrs. J. A. Fehr, chairman of the sale of articles made by the blind, sent by the Ohio Commission for the Blind.

Members were reminded to complete registration for national defense work, information cards to be left with the president.

Mrs. G. E. Votaw, hospitality director, announced that a tea will follow the Christmas program Dec. 15 at the library, at which time members will bring two gifts for the annual Christmas party for junior high school age girls, given by the Friendly Council in December.

Grangers To Meet

COLUMBUS, Dec. 2.—Approximately 4,000 Ohio State grange members are expected to attend the organization's convention Dec. 9-11 honoring its late master, Walter F. Kirk, who was killed in an automobile accident last week. Paul McNish of Chardon, named acting master, will preside at the state meeting.

RAILROAD STRIKE THREAT IS LIFTED

Wage and Vacation Dispute Settled; Payrolls To Be Boosted

commended wage boosts totalling $270,000,000 a year. That plan was rejected both by the 350,000 members of the five operating brotherhoods, and by the 602,000 members of the 14 non-operating unions, although the railroad managements agreed to the increases.

The operating personnel, whose present pay ranges upward from $5.06 a day, had demanded a 30 per cent increase. The board, in its first report, recommended a 7 1/2 per cent hike for them and 13 1/2 per cent, or 9 cents an hour additional, for the non-operating employees. The latter classification presently receives from 35 to 85 cents an hour, and asked increases to 30 to 34 cents.

7 1/2 Cent Basis Set

According to the best available information, the terms finally agreed upon call for a 7 1/2 per cent retroactive increase for the operating men from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1 of this year, replaced on the latter date by an increase of 8 1/2 cents an hour.

The same sources, outside the board, said the non-operating employees were to receive increases of 9 cents an hour for the Sept. 1-Dec. 1 period, and additional 1-cent-hour increases thereafter.

Where the original report called for 6-day annual vacations with pay for the non-operating personnel, the new recommendations were said to provide from 6 to 12 days vacations for clerks and telegraphers depending upon years of service.

New Warren Water Plant Recommended By Experts

WARREN, Dec. 2.—A new $2,000,000 plant for Warren is recommended by engineers who have just completed a three-month study of the water problem here.

The present plant, purchased in 1921 and improved each year, was valued at $2,220,833 on Jan. 1 of this year but is so located geographically that it cannot be further expanded, the engineers said. They recommended a 14,000,000-gallon-a-day plant as compared with the 8,000,000 of the present plant. Only 6.4 million gallons a day can be produced efficiently at the plant, it was said.

Brown Seeks Improvement As Quakers' Opening Game Nears

PLACES WIDE OPEN AS TEAM PREPARES TO MEET RAVENNA

New Faces Will Be Seen In Lineup Unless Squad Improves

Coach Herb Brown of the Quaker basketball squad today declared that veteran members of the squad to date have failed to come through as effectively as expected and, as a result, every position on the squad is open—wide open—and will remain that way until individual players prove themselves fitted for their jobs.

With the opening game of the season coming up, Brown is none too sure about just what's going to happen. Facing the Ravens Friday night at Ravenna, the Salem mentor, highly optimistic prior to the beginning of practice sessions today felt that Salem's best would be but mediocre unless improvement is both startling and sudden.

"Too Sure of Jobs"

"Some members of the squad feel too sure of their jobs", Brown said today. "Unless they begin to produce, there will be some official cuts made before the Ravens game."

On the other hand, several members of the squad have been looking exceptionally good in workouts to date, showing an excellent attitude and a fine spirit of cooperation. Keen competition is being shown by these lads for starting places and, as a result, it is possible new faces will be seen when the Quakers go into action in their inaugural.

With all the material that came up this year, most of it veteran. Brown said that he originally had looked forward to one of his finest seasons. But he frankly disclosed today that he doesn't know what to look forward to now.

"This squad", he pointed out, "has greater potentialities than any we've had for years, but it's up to the individuals to get in there and start pitching. If they do, there will be few who'll beat them. If they don't, we can look ahead to a sour season."

The Quakers will have to be at their best to take on such teams as Canton, Lehigh, Akron, West, East Liverpool, Alliance, and others. Brown has arranged a scrimmage with New Waterford for Wednesday night and hopes to see improvement in the squad's performance. It is possible he may be able to pick his starting lineup for the Ravens game after this scrimmage.

MINNESOTA RATED NATION'S BEST IN AP FOOTBALL POLL

Big Nine Champs Retain Rating Gained In November

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—To the Minnesota football team and to sports editor, Ray Kelly of the New York Times go top honors today in the final Associated Press football ranking poll of the regular 1941 season.

The Golden Gophers, as had appeared likely since the second week in November, finished in first place to retain the No. 1 position accorded them a year ago, just as they retained the Western Conference championship they won in 1940. Of the 96 sports experts throughout the country who took part in this week's balloting, 84 plunked for Minnesota and one other split his vote between the Gophers and Duke.

As a result the Gophers, with nine second place votes, another for third and one for fourth, polled a total of 94½ points out of a perfect 960. Duke's Blue Devils, Rose Bowl bound to meet Oregon State, got 9½ for first and 72½ points, and Duquesne, only other big-time unbeaten and untied team in the land, 309 2-3 points for eighth.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

In the two biggest Bowl games, the voters made Duke a heavy favorite over Oregon State, given only enough points for 12th place, while rating the Fordham-Missouri Sugar Bowl clash virtually a toss-up. Fordham got 329 2-3 points in sixth place, Missouri 328 in a seventh. Notre Dame, Texas and Michigan, in third, fourth and fifth, and Texas A. and M. and Navy, in sixth and tenth, completed the first 10. Kelly, in his ballot, came closest to the week's ranking. He named the first three teams in order, then followed with Missouri Fordham, Texas, Texas O. and M., Duquesne, Navy and Michigan.

Collier Parriss of the Lubbock (Tex.) Avalanche-Journal made the best start, listing the first four in order but listing only six of the correct 10. Thirteen writers had the first two in order and nine of the 10, including Herb Barker, Orlo Robertson, Hugh Fullerton, Jr., Harold Claassen and Bill Boni, Associated Press.

As Hutson Sets Pro Records

Don Hutson, star end of the Green Bay Packers' pro team, catches a pass in the end zone for a touchdown as the Packers down the Washington Redskins, 22-17, in Washington. Hutson scored three touchdowns and made two extra points to set new marks for one season's scoring, number of touchdowns scored in any one season and in all-time point making. Hutson's new marks are 95 points, 12 touchdowns and 395 points, respectively.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(Wide World)—Looks as if Bob Feller doesn't intend to wait for the draft to get him. Latest report, following his visit to Washington last week, is that Bob may get a second lieutenant's rating in the army air corps and will be assigned to Wright Field of Dayton, Ohio. Unable to get Chuck Dressen away from his dad, Larry MacPhail, Jr., is considering Billy Grimes as manager for his Toronto ball club. He'll look for a playing slot first.

Philadelphia's Schuykill Navy held a cross-country run the other day. Water must have been very low.

Jay Simon, Coffeyville (Kans) Journal: "Minnesota finished its season with a record of 17 straight victories. Coffeyville Junior College's Ravens wound up with an unbroken string of 18 triumphs. Up around Minneapolis the fans are Raven about the Gophers; down here they really Gopher the Ravens."

Odds—And Ends
Winding up the season, New York football writers picked Princeton's press-box as the best on the eastern college circuit and the Yankee Stadium's as the worst. A hundred and thirty-nine years of baseball brains was in one room when Hans Lobert visited Connie Mack the other day. Connie's advice was: "It's all right to keep discipline with your players, but don't be unreasonable."

The California fight manager who has been raffling off a fighter at $1 a throw says if the stunt is successful he'll raffle off himself. A Philadelphia journalism teacher, trying to keep his pupils alert for unusual events, uses the hypothetical headline: "Phils win pennant."

Pop Pops Off
"The Stanford (Fla.) High school football team has two brothers named Gut on the squad. No doubt Sanford has what it takes."

Hugh Fullerton, Senior

Postman's Paragraph
Coach "Ironhorse" Connor of the Hurricane (W. Va.) High school Redskins takes issue with the guys who claimed records for puntless games. His boys didn't have to kick in four of their eight games and only seven times in the other four. He also wants recognition for half-back Joe Miller, who completed 48 of 63 passes for 1,365 yards.

Cleaning the Cuff
Amateur sports leaders already are looking ahead to the 1942 A. A. U. convention, which probably will

Navy Enlistments Credited Locally

Secretary Knox of the Navy department has announced that local communities are given credit for each naval recruit and that local selective service quotas are reduced accordingly.
"Every young man who joins the navy or naval reserve thus helps to fill the local selective service quota," Knox said. "Young men who have not been deferred would do well to consider the opportunities the U. S. navy offers for specialized training and advancement while serving their country in its emergency."
The age limits for the regular navy are 17 to 31, and for the naval reserve the limits are 17 to 35. All applicants under 21 must have written consent of their parents or guardians.
In addition to explaining that navy enlistments are credited against the local selective service quota, the secretary also stated that a high school education is not necessary for acceptance by the navy. "Any ambitious and patriotic young man of average mentality and good character who meets physical and other requirements may be acceptable to help man Uncle Sam's new 'Two-Ocean' navy."

To $458,240. A bond retirement transfer, made awhile back, overcame part of the deficit, but county officials expect to end the year about $40,000 in the "red."
Estimated anticipated resources for 1941 had been placed at $429,320.
The present financial tangle is the result of several developments, the first really starting in 1932 when the county suffered a thirty million dollar valuation loss in a reappraisal it was explained.
Another twenty million dollar valuation loss was suffered in 1934, it was recalled, when action of the state tax commission cut property valuations 10 and 15 per cent.
Through state legislation in 1937 automobile license funds were diverted from the county's general fund to the road and bridge fund. This accounted for an annual $60,000 loss.
Earlier this year, the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce "uncovered" a mill in which the county was sharing, although the millage had expired in 1938. This accounted for a $72,000 loss.
Next year the county is faced with providing approximately $94,000 for the county school districts, and also with the loss of $33,000 because the state has failed to "earn" beer, wort, malt and admissions taxes for relief purposes. The money reverts to the state coffers.

"It is known that she carried at least six 5.9-inch guns, two aircraft and further was fitted with underwater torpedo tubes in addition to those fitted on deck. She had a speed of 18 knots and a complement of 400 officers and men. She was a formidable vessel," the admiralty concluded.

OIL PLANT BLAZE CAUSES BLACKOUT

CIRCLEVILLE, Dec. 2.—Temporary blackout of towns in a half-dozen southern Ohio counties resulted from a night fire at the Circleville oil company plant of which severed power lines of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The blaze started at a 55,000-gallon gasoline storage tank and destroyed a garage, shanty office, three trucks and two automobiles on the oil company property. Leslie D. May, general manager, estimated the firm's loss at $15,000 to $20,000. He said about 18,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed.

Power failure extended throughout Pickaway, Ross, Jackson, Adams, Brown and Highland counties, darkening such cities as Chillicothe, Hillsboro and Jackson, in addition to Circleville.

The blackout lasted more than three hours here, but electricity was rerouted to other communities earlier.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Germans Gain In Libya

On the flaming North African battle front, British headquarters admitted that the Germans, throwing all their available armored forces into a desperate lunge, had succeeded in consolidating their divided armies in the Libyan desert wastes.

A British communique said German troops advancing from the south and southwest in bitter all-day fighting managed to reach other Nazi forces trapped south of Rezeq, 90 miles from the Libyan-Egyptian frontier.

Premier Mussolini's high command reported the capture of 1,500 British prisoners in the Rezeq zone, while the German high command claimed that more than 9,000 British, including three generals, had been taken captive so far in the 15-day-old campaign. The Nazi high command also reported the destruction of 814 British tanks and 127 planes.

Official Nazi dispatches said the battle on the Tobruk front had taken a favorable turn for the Axis in the last few days.
